Radius versus opacity for different energies